HUGO GRENVILLE

From the Artist's Studio

Hugo Grenville was born in 1958. Although he first exhibited in London at the Chelsea Arts Society at the age of 15, it took him another 14 years to become a full time painter. After leaving school he backpacked across India, ran out of money, joined the British Army as a member of the Coldstream Guards, and served as an officer in Northern Ireland, West Africa, Zimbabwe during the Civil War, and finally as an Aide de Camp in the Rhine, during which time he painted whenever possible and studied part-time at the Chelsea School of Art and Heatherley's.

Working first in advertising and then as an art dealer he finally submitted to the need to paint full time in 1989.

Since then he has held 14 One Man Shows, has painted portraits of leading figures including the late Archbishop of Canterbury, has been an Official War Artist in Bosnia, writes regularly for The Artist magazine and lectures in London and at his summer school on color and Twentieth Century painting.

During the past 20 years he has exhibited at the Royal Society of British Artists, Royal Institute of Painters, Chelsea Arts Club and numerous other galleries including Messum's on Cork Street in London. Most recently one of his paintings was chosen as a centerpiece for a library in the annual Kips Bay Decorator's showcase in New York.
